Reading I - A School Newspaper Article

Use this reading for questions 1 to 3.

A student newspaper at a fictional high school planned to print an article that criticized a new school rule about phones. The principal stopped the article from being printed, saying the criticism would cause disruption in the school.

The student editors argued that they had freedom of expression. The principal argued that the school could limit expression to keep order. A court would have to decide whether the limit was reasonable and justified.
