Source I - A Home Front Diary Entry, 1943

Use this reading for questions 1 to 2.

Ration books are part of life now. Sugar, butter, and meat are measured out, and mother saves every scrap of fat for the war effort. My brother writes from overseas that he is well, but his letters are short and some lines are blacked out.

At school we collect scrap metal and buy war savings stamps. Everyone says we are all in this together, and most days it feels true, even when we are tired of going without.

- A teenager in Ontario, in a diary entry, 1943 (invented source)
